PRESENT LOCATION OR OLD GIRLS' HIGH PLOT CONSIDERED

Resolutions Favoring Marietta and Forsyth Corner as Well as South Side Sent To Committee.

COUNTY'S DEMAND DECIDED TOO HIGH

With All Negotiations Ended, Members Turn To Proposals With Former School Site Favored.

City council Monday afternoon definitely abandoned hope of locating the new city hall on county-owned property adjacent to Fulton county courthouse and diverted its attention to selection of the present city hall site or the old girls' high school tract at Mitchell and Washington streets.

End to negotiations for the county site came on recommendation of the special city hall committee of council headed by Councilman Wylie M. Moore, of the seventh ward, who stated that the offer of the county to sell the site to the city for $308,150 was prohibitive, leaving an inadequate sum for construction of the new municipal building.

Councilman John A. White, of the fourth ward, was the author of the measure designed to force erection of the new structure on the present city hall site at Forsyth and Marietta streets. It was referred to the special committee for a report.

Girls' High Site.

Councilman Howard C. McCutcheon, of the second ward, offered the resolution which would name the old girls' high school tract as the location for the city hall. He contended that council is morally obligated to place the new building as near the Fulton county courthouse, on the south side of the city, as possible, and called attention to the fact that it is so placed practically all the $1,000,000 fund provided in the bond fund could be devoted to erection of the building.

Councilman Jim Bowden, of the second ward, offered the resolution which would name the old girls' high school tract as the location for the city hall. He contended that council is morally obligated to place the new building as near the Fulton county courthouse, on the south side of the city, as possible, and called attention to the fact that it is so placed practically all the $1,000,000 fund provided in the bond fund could be devoted to erection of the building.

BILL WOULD FORM "KINGDOM" WITHIN ATLANTA LIMITS

Discovery of a "joker" in the deck of local bills pending at the Georgia legislature was aired Monday in city council, and resulted in that body passing a request to the assembly not to pass any measures coming from the city of Atlanta unless they are recommended by council.

According to disclosures of William B. Hartsfield, alderman from the third ward, the bill was designed to set up the Atlanta park board as a separate government, with complete authority to control concessions, fees from concessions, all its finances and even to select its own law enforcement officers by swearing them and paying them separately from the police department.

"This bill was intended to set up a little kingdom in the Atlanta city government," Mr. Hartsfield declared. "The park board would no more be under council if the legislature passed it than the park board of Savannah or any other city."

No record of the origin of the bill could be produced, but council approved Mr. Hartsfield's request that the legislature not pass any legislation affecting the Atlanta park system unless it bears the official ok of council.

Aimee Signs Peace Terms With Mother

Mrs. McPherson Will Assume Complete Control of Temple Affairs.

Los Angeles, August 1.—(AP)—Aimee Semple McPherson and her mother, Mrs. Minnie Kennedy, came to peace terms late today following a two-hour conference between their attorneys.

The split between the evangelist and her mother also 10 days ago ended when the following official announcement was issued:

"Mrs. Minnie Kennedy will give up active management at Angelus temple and Mrs. McPherson will assume complete control."

Attorneys Lester H. Roth and F. H. Whitfield, representing mother and daughter in a joint announcement, declared "the dove of peace has descended on Angelus temple."

Mother and daughter, the attorneys said, had reached a general agreement, full details of which will be worked out within the next few days.

With faces wreathed in smiles and accompanied by many "Hallelujahs," Mrs. McPherson and Mrs. Kennedy came out of the conference room and before almost a hundred tramp workers and onlookers kissed and embraced each other.

Today's conference was agreed upon by the two warring leaders following an announcement by Mrs. Kennedy demanding equal division of the financial receipts of the institution. The trouble between the two arose when Mrs. Kennedy was removed as business manager of the church after her daughter broke a speaking tour at Alton, Ill., and hurried back to the temple.

Mrs. McPherson previously today reiterated her denial that Marshall

United States Lines Plan Regular Trips Following Success of Chamberlin's Trip.

BY JACK CUDDY.

New York, August 1.—(United News.)—The United States Lines has begun organizing a ship-to-shore air plane service for all its ocean liners, following Monday's successful flight by Clarence Chamberlin from the Leviathan, 100 miles at sea to Curtis field, Long Island.

David A. Burke, general manager of the steamship company, announced definitely by message from the Leviathan to the company's New York offices that such an organization actually was under way.

Officials of the company hope that the ship-to-shore service will be completely installed on the six United States liners by spring.

Cooperation Needed.

Such a service, carrying passengers, mail and merchandise from vessels to land, will require unusual cooperation with immigration, postoffice and customs authorities.

The company has not decided whether it will purchase its own planes or let the service by contract. The Chamberlin test flight was made to prove whether a plane could take-off from a commercial ship at sea and reach land safely. Because of the unfavorable flying conditions under which Chamberlin's flight was made, Burke regards the flight as successful beyond all expectations.

Chamberlin landed at Curtis field at 9:30 a. m. He had intended to land at Hahoback Heights, N. J., as his destination, as it is the

5 FOUND GUILTY IN FLOGGING CASE

Fines Are Imposed by Alabama Judge Following Conviction on Charge of Attacking Woman.

Mobile, Ala., August 1.—(AP)—In a trial that required little more than three hours, five persons, two of them women, today were found guilty of flogging Mrs. Bertha A. Slay several weeks ago.

The verdict of Judge J. R. McClure in the Lauderdale county court of misdemeanors marked the first convictions that have come from a score of investigations into masked violence in Alabama.

Allen Butler and his wife, Maggie Butler, were found guilty of assault and battery and were fined $100 each. Albert Lindsay was fined $50 on the same charge and Lucille Lindsay and Charlie Lindsay were found guilty of conspiracy to commit a misdemeanor and fined $25 each.

The convictions which came only three hours after the opening of the trial followed closely a graphic description of the whipping by Mrs. Slay. The woman told how she was roused from sleep, led out of doors, bound to a barrel and whipped with sticks and an automobile fan belt, because she refused to "confess to a neighborhood scandal." She also pointed out the five defendants in the court room and identified them as her assailants.

While admitting the tenacity of the court in dealing with the "vigilantes" of Mrs. Slay, County Solicitor Henry D. Jones and state officers who conducted an investigation into the flogging, hailed the convictions "as a moral victory."

SPECIAL SESSION FIGHT IS RENEWED BY PARTY CHIEFS

Curtis Declares Extra Meeting Is Not Necessary, While Robinson Urges President To Act.

Washington, August 1.—(AP)—Discussion of a special session of the new congress was renewed today with the return to Washington of republican and democratic leaders of the senate.

Senator Curtis, of Kansas, majority floor manager, declared there was no reason for the president to call congress together before its regular meeting time in December, but he added that committee should begin work on flood control and tax revision problems before that time.

Senator Robinson, of Arkansas, the democratic leader, asserted that congress should be convened in the early autumn to deal first with flood relief and second with the deficiency bill which failed in the bitter senate filibuster which marked the closing session of the last congress.

The democratic leader announced that he had prepared a tentative flood relief measure for introduction when congress meets. It proposes an annual appropriation of $100,000,000 and would extend jurisdiction of the Mississippi river commission to tributaries and outlets of the Mississippi river.

The appropriation proposed would be used for repair and construction of such works as may be necessary, payment of the bonds of levee districts and such services as may be found necessary to determine availability of works supplemental to levees.

"The issues which arise on this bill almost wholly involve questions of public policy," Senator Robinson said. "They should be met before the disasters of 1927 are repeated."

"If I don't know whether he is going to use it, but you never can tell, it continued.

COURT ADMITS CITIZENS' ROAD 2 CONFESSIONS BILL DEFEATED IN LAKE KILLING IN COMMITTEE

Ruling of Judge Follows Announcement That James Beadle Now Accuses Dr. Dreher.

FATAL SHOTGUN SHOWN TO JURORS

Sheriff Declares Mrs. Lebonof Wrote Alleged Lover That He Had Better "Get" Her Husband.

Franklin, La., August 1.—(AP)—The confessions of Mrs. Ada Bonner Lebonof and Dr. Thomas E. Dreher, defendants in the Lebonof murder trial, will be admitted as evidence, Judge James D. Simon ruled tonight.

The court's ruling followed announcement by Isidore Gagan of the prosecution that James Beadle, the third of the trio accused of murdering James J. Lebonof, husband of the woman on trial, had made a confession charging the doctor with shooting Lebonof to death and cutting open the body.

Arguments and testimony over admitting the two confessions had been in progress since Saturday afternoon.

The jury was brought back into the room and Sheriff Peot told of Dr. Dreher's confession and the incidents he said surrounded it.

The sheriff related that Mrs. Lebonof wrote Dr. Dreher a note telling him he had better "get" her husband before Lebonof "got" him. The note said, the sheriff testified, that Mr. and Mrs. Lebonof would be boat riding near a negro school house the night of the alleged slaying.

The shotgun alleged to have been used was brought into court and offered as evidence.

The defense objected to introducing the written statement of Mrs. Lebonof as evidence but was overruled by the court. The statement was read to the jury by Sheriff Peot.

The statement said Lebonof tried to get Dr. Dreher to come to the house several times and that a rifle was present.

Measure to Raise $150,000,000 For Highway Building Unfavorably Reported at Hearing.

EX-GOV. SLATON LEADS OPPOSITION

Former Executive Calls Proposal Attack on Constitutional, To Place Taxation Burden on Counties.

An overwhelming vote to report the measure unfavorably to the house of representatives ended the public hearing Monday night before the house highways committee on the citizens' committee highway bill to raise approximately $150,000,000 for building roads in Georgia.

Judge Arthur Powell, of Atlanta, for the proponents of the bill, and Ex-Governor John M. Slaton, for the opposition, led the spirited debate which preceded the committee's action.

The country's leading bankers have accorded the plan their indorsement, said Judge Powell, who declared that Howard E. Coffin, Detroit motor magnate and multi-millionaire, had given his personal guarantee to dispose of the securities which the bill would create. Mr. Coffin's status as a guarantor was vouched for, said the speaker, by the house of J. P. Morgan.

"Mr. Coffin agreed to take the securities at par, secure their sale through large banking houses and agreed, furthermore, to turn over any profit that might accrue to him through the transaction to the state of Georgia for use either in the common schools or the state university," he said.

Georgia's Honor Pledged.

"Millions in their pockets, based on the pledge of Georgia's faith and honor" constituted the reason the bankers were eager to indorse the financing plan offered by the measure, according to Governor Slaton, who said that the bankers would secure would be parallel to that of Shylock with Antonio's pound of flesh.

The bill was called by others who opposed its introduction, those determined on a bond issue and it was excoriated as bringing to the state a burden of indebtedness that would be handed down to generations.

Judge Powell, who spoke first, outlined the manner in which the citizens' highway committee had been organized and the development of the bill which, he said, was the outgrowth of long study on the best manner.

It is expected that another amendment will be offered to the general tax act Tuesday providing for imposition of a tax on all recorded instruments. This tax would be 50 cents on each $500 or fraction thereof and would bring in revenue amounting to $750,000 a year, according to estimates.

AMBASSADOR GIBSON IS ORDERED TO END GENEVA CONFERENCE

SALES TAX BILL COMES UP TODAY IN LOWER HOUSE

Measure, Similar to Virginia's "Purchase Tax," To Provide $4,000,000 Year, Supporters Say.

Increases in the revenues of the state amounting to nearly $4,000,000 through the imposition of a general sales tax, similar to the "purchase tax" of the state of Virginia, will be proposed as the outstanding feature of the session of the house of representatives Tuesday. The tax will be offered as an amendment to the general tax act which the house had under consideration Monday and probably will continue to consider through Tuesday and possibly Wednesday.

In the senate Tuesday, the first order of business will be the consideration of the bill providing for the assembly or convocation of a constitutional convention. No constitutional convention has been held in Georgia in more than a quarter of a century and although proposals that one be called have been made in recent years, the measure making the call now before the senate is the first that has been brought before that body in more than a decade.

"Children's Bills."

Another feature of the senate session scheduled after the constitutional convention debate is finished will be the consideration of the series of bills known as the "children's bills." These measures will come before the senate with the approval of the respective committees to which they were referred. They are supported by the women's organizations throughout the state. A measure known as the "psychiatric bill" which is supported by the general federation of women's clubs also is on the schedule and is backed by a favorable report.

Under the proposed sales tax, $5 would be levied on the first $1,000 worth of goods purchased for resale in Georgia. On the next amounts up to $100,000 a straight two mill tax on each dollar would be levied and above $100,000 a three mill tax on each dollar would be imposed. It is estimated that this measure would bring in between $3,500,000 and $4,000,000 a year.

It is expected that another amendment will be offered to the general tax act Tuesday providing for imposition of a tax on all recorded instruments. This tax would be 50 cents on each $500 or fraction thereof and would bring in revenue amounting to $750,000 a year, according to estimates.

Boys Torture Aged Victims To Get Money

Hardened Police Officials Stand Aghast as They Confess Crimes.

(By Leased Wire to The Constitution.)

Chicago, Ill., August 1.—Hardened police officers stood aghast today as they listened to the boastful confessions of first boys criminals, ranging from 12 to 20 years of age. The lads displayed an utter heartlessness and cruelty in describing how they had tortured their victims, chiefly helpless old men, whom they overcame while drunk. They gloried in their depravity and the most blood-thirsty of the lot was Edward Burdengal, 12 years old.

Police say this is the worst gang captured since the Guelow case, 16 years ago. In addition to Burdengal, the others are: Stanley Burdengal, 18; John Slomka, 20; Anthony Smith-kowitz, 18, and John Walczewski, all the offspring of immigrants from Central Europe.

Their description of one torture case was typical of many. They had overpowered an aged watchman for a roadhouse near Waukegan. After they had beaten him into semi-consciousness, they demanded that he tell them where the money was concealed. He professed not to know, so "Eddie" Burdengal suggested they refresh his memory by torture. They applied lighted cigarettes to his bare feet. This did not produce results, so they stripped him and burned his body, his ears, his nose and crevasses until he fainted. They doused him with ice water and resumed the torture until he told where the money was.

"We got a hundred dollars," boasted "Eddie" and learned that old adobe not to tell us no more lies."

ADAIR LOAN CO. IN RECEIVERSHIP

Firm Temporarily in Hands of Edgar Watkins and Arthur Lucas, Following $9,500 Suit.

Upon application to the Fulton county superior court on a suit for $9,500, filed by the Pittsburgh Plate Glass company and other creditors "in like condition," temporary receivers were appointed Monday to take over all assets now in the possession of the Adair Realty and Loan company and to continue to operate the business, subject to further court orders.

Judge G. H. Howard, of Fulton superior court, named Edgar Watkins, lawyer, and Arthur Lucas, theatrical man, both of Atlanta, as temporary receivers.

The suit was filed Monday morning. Bond in the sum of $25,000 was fixed by the court and the receivers qualified by giving bond later in the day. They then proceeded to take charge of the business, but continued Forrest Adair for the time being in the capacity of president and Robin Adair as secretary, as well as other employees "in order to continue the operation of the business with as little disturbance as possible."

Chicago, August 1.—(AP)—Turning from a funeral sermon over the bodies of four of the 27 persons drowned when an excursion boat foundered in Lake Michigan, a minister today criticized the city and federal government, declaring they "should stand before this angry populace indicted and guilty for these deaths."

Warren Corning, of Wilmette, aboard the yacht "Doris" first to the rescue, startled federal investigators when he testified a launch cruising near the helpless "Favorite" failed to offer any help.

Corning said he thought there "must have been a lot of dumb-heads around, since there were about 5,000 persons on the beach and the scene of the disaster was not far away. I wondered why the coast guard boat had not appeared."

Coolidge's Personal Cable Ordering Gibson to Cease Dillydallying Comes as Surprise.

WRECK TO BE LAID TO BRITISH ACTION

Diplomats Believed President Was Weakening When His Cable Arrived.

BY HENRY WALES.

Geneva, August 1.—Instructions were received by Ambassador Hugh Gibson today direct from Washington to end the tri-power naval disarmament conference without delay.

The public plenary session, thereupon, was scheduled for Thursday afternoon in the ballroom of the Hotel Bergeur.

Ambassador Gibson is busy writing and rewriting the speech he will deliver, announcing the termination of the conference in view of the irreconcilability of the British and American viewpoints.

Will Blame Britain.

The American delegation's pronouncement will seek to place the blame for the wrecking of the conference with the British on two counts.

First is the London admiralty's insistence on establishing classes of cruisers and stipulating their armament.

Second is England's demands that the United States delegates pledge themselves in advance that America construct the allocated number of 10,000-ton cruisers carrying 8-inch guns and limit the guns on all other vessels of less tonnage.

"Washington cannot usurp the prerogatives of congress and accept any such restrictions on our navy, and even one congress cannot bind the following congress to such restrictions," it was pointed out today.

President Coolidge's personal cable to Gibson ordering him to cease dillydallying and close the conference if the lord of the British admiralty, William C. Bridgeman, remained insistent in dictating the composition of the American fleet, came as a surprise.

Believed Coolidge Weakening.

Diplomatic members of the delegation believed that the president was weakening and preparing further to consider the British demands which Bridgeman and Lord Cecil brought from London last Thursday and on which they have stood pat since.

"Gibson is reluctant to call off the

$250,000 FIRE HITS WAYCROSS

Waycross, Ga., August 1.—(P)—Fire starting in the kitchen of the Exchange hotel here at 4 o'clock this morning, destroyed seven business establishments in the heart of the city before it was brought under control. Fire-fighting apparatus hurried overland from Jacksonville assisted in quenching the blaze, threatened the whole business district.

The blaze was confined to a single block at the intersection of Pendleton and Elizabeth streets a short distance from the Atlantic Coast Line railroad station.

The establishments destroyed by the fire were the Exchange hotel, Elliott's drugstore, Atlantic & Pacific Tea company, the Farley clothing store, Walker-Hood Furniture company, Steward's billiard parlors and Hinson's undertaking establishment. The Orpheum theater was damaged.

Later the loss was unofficially estimated at between $200,000 and $250,000, partially covered by insurance.

No injuries were reported, although reports in the Exchange hotel were forced to flee in their night clothes, some being rescued by hotel officials and police.

Damage Heavy.
The origin of the fire has been ascertained. W. S. Bryson, proprietor of the Exchange hotel, states that he was awakened at 4 o'clock by a loud noise of something falling. He rushed out of his room and found that the skylights between the second floor and the third floor of the hotel were falling in.

CITIZENS' ROAD BILL.

ner in which to finance a comprehensive highway program, the committee of Georgia, without the "expensive" procedure of building a little now and a little later.

The bill provides that debentures be issued against the future revenues the state will procure from the sources on which highway construction now depends, he declared, and would establish a sinking fund that would not only provide for amortization of the securities by time of their 15-to-25-year maturity, but would also suffice for efficient maintenance of old roads and building of minor highways in the state. He said the $100,000,000 of the estimated $130,000,000 revenue now put to this purpose would be set aside for the sinking fund and would be ample to retire the securities when due.

He said that much of the highway money had come from the counties and that passage of the bill would permit repayment of something like $20,000,000 now due them from the state. Mr. Slaton, in an attack that characterized the bill as an attack on the constitution of Georgia "in spirit if not in truth," said that the mass of indebtedness this would mean to the state and the consequent burden of taxation would make the counties pay dearly for this reimbursement. Like Slaton, you will sell your birthright for a mess of pottage," he declared.

"Corporation" Charge Denied.
Judge Powell vigorously denied that the bill would put the highways under control of a "private corporation," stating that their control would be vested in the state highway board as it now exists, or in any form that it may take in the future.

The ex-governor, in opposing, spoke of the possibility that tolls would someday be necessary, under the bill, to pay out the interest and principal charges which would accrue if anything should occur to decrease the revenue available. Judge Powell declared in rebuttal, that "citizens of the state are now paying tolls on highways, except that they pay it at filling stations as gasoline tax instead of at a toll gate."

Mr. Slaton cited figures on what he called a "harvest" the bankers handling the deal would reap. "No wonder they warn you that you will be flooded with propaganda if the bill does not pass this session," he said, in reference to counsel for the bill, that the citizens' committee was determined to continue its efforts despite the present outcome of the measure.

Cecil Neill, of Muscogee, before the vote was taken, spoke in opposition to passing any measure that would violate the spirit of the constitution and said that it was a matter which should be put before the people before it took its place on the statute books of Georgia.

Judge Powell was introduced to the committee on highways by Ronald Ransom, secretary of the citizens' committee. After the debate, Seaborn Wright, of Floyd, who had introduced Governor Slaton, made the motion, which was carried, that the measure receive an unfavorable report.

Paul Miller, of Muscogee, who introduced the bill into the house for the committee which framed it, led in its defense at the hearing.

McNARY-HAUGEN GHOST BOBS UP

Rapid City, S. D., August 1.—(P)—President Coolidge turned from the perplexities of naval armament long enough today to hear from Senator Capper, of Kansas, that he farmers' urge for the McNary-Haugen relief bill persists while an "adequate substitute" remains unannounced.

Coming into the Black Hills for a conference at the summer white house, Senator Capper is the first to bring Mr. Coolidge's message that the farmer "will want the equalization fee provision in that long controverted measure and while he is convinced that the farmers who favor the McNary-Haugen bill are ready "to listen to reason," he did not think they would give any ground so far as the fee was concerned.

Predicts Hard Fight.
Next winter in congress, he added, the fight for essential provisions of the measure would be continued, which, if the Kansas senator prophesies correctly, would be the fourth session in which the hard fight has been waged forward.

Mr. Capper confirmed reports that the administration's cooperative marketing bill was being repealed and that the McNary-Haugen bill was being given priority in the Senate.

ITALIANS FLEEING ADVANCE OF LAVA

Naples, Italy, August 1.—(P)—Countless thousands of tons of molten lava tonight continued to pour powerfully from the "valley of hell" under the crater of Mount Vesuvius into ravines leading towards the town of Terzigno, many of whose inhabitants already have fled from the re-awakened activity of the great volcano.

Despite ominous explosions and the constant movement of lava at a rapid rate, Professor Malladra, director of the observatory, declared there was no danger except in case the weight of the gathering material should cause a break in the side of the mountain from the inner crater to the surface facing Terzigno.

The present phase of the volcano's activity, Professor Malladra said, would cease probably within a few days.

Beginning yesterday morning, the eruption at Mount Vesuvius progressed steadily until early this morning, when the lava, which already filled the "valley of hell," rose above the crater and then began to run down the paths toward Terzigno.

A large section of the population of Terzigno and the neighboring regions began to flee towards Naples after dawn.

SACCO-VANZETTI
JUDGE TESTIFIES
BY CECIL OWEN.

Boston, August 1.—(United News.) An unexpected witness—Judge Webster Thayer, governor of the state house late today and was interviewed by Governor Alvan T. Fuller, now at the end of his four-month review of the Sacco-Vanzetti case.

Judge Thayer presided at the Dedham trial in 1921 when Sacco and Vanzetti were convicted of murdering the master and his guard, the $15,000 hold-up. Four times he has rejected defense appeals for a new trial and twice he has been upheld by the state supreme court.

In the six years since Sacco and Vanzetti were convicted, Judge Thayer has been the chief target of the defense forces. The contention that Judge Thayer was prejudiced and unfair in his attitude toward the two radicals has formed the backbone of the defense case.

Judge Thayer left the governor's office at 8:55. He declined to comment on his interview. He was followed by the governor's personal counsel, William MacDonell, the governor's private secretary. All three descended in the elevator together and were seen by the press.

Lyons, France, August 1.—(P)—A clash between the police and Sacco-Vanzetti sympathizers here today resulted in several persons on each side being hurt. The sympathizers had held two meetings and then started to form a parade. They sought to stop the street traffic.

A number of pistol shots were fired, but nobody was hit. Five of the demonstrators were sent to hospitals with injuries.

Memphis, Tenn., August 1.—(P)—With a series of shootings after over the week-end, Memphis' homicide record for the year reached the half-hundred mark, an increase of 18 over the same date last year, and that of Shelby county totaled five.

Five have died within the past few days as the result of robbers' activities and negroes' quarrels. A. Baum, owner of the Illinois Central railroad, and L. W. Gunter, pig stand operator, were slain by negro robbers. Two negro men and a white woman died over the week-end as the result of quarrels, two being shot to death and the other stabbed.

Dallas, August 1.—(P)—The question of increasing the salary of the next governor of Texas from $4,000 to $10,000 a year and on three other proposed constitutional amendments was voted on in a special election today. A light vote was being cast.

The other amendments proposed a more efficient judicial system, changes in the taxing system and the supreme and appellate courts, abolishment of the fee system for county law enforcement officers, placing them on a salary basis, and authorization to the legislature to fix salaries of state officers and legislators except the governor, whose salary is placed at $10,000.

AUTO TAG SALES GAIN $458,078

Increases amounting to $458,078 in the sale of automobile license tags during the first seven months of 1927 over a corresponding period last year were shown in figures made public Monday by Secretary of State S. G. McEldon. According to figures compiled by Arthur T. Harris, chief clerk, the total sales of license tags for the first seven months of 1927 was $3,510,903, as compared to $3,052,825.

This increase is one of the largest made for the seven months period since the automobile license bureau was created. The number of tags sold this year was 263,022 as compared to 242,963 during the same period last year.

After August 1 each year automobile license tags are sold for half-price and there was a heavy rush of business at the office of Secretary McEldon Monday. The office forces of J. Threault Moore, cashier of the motor vehicle department, and the mail order department of Dr. Royal J. Miller also were swamped with business.

SPEAKERS FAVOR PROPOSED PARK

Added impetus was given the proposal to establish a mammoth city-owned park in the Sylvan Hills section of the city Monday night when more than a score of speakers from several sections of the city reported that civic, fraternal and patriotic organizations are solidly behind the proposal.

The reports were made at the meeting of the Capitol View Civic league which was presided over by John C. Macdonald, president, and an enthusiastic audience of more than 400 persons endorsed the proposal unanimously.

Plans are to establish the park on a 370-acre tract owned by the Perkins estate and which stretches between Stewart avenue and Sylvan road as one of the play spots of the city.

Atlanta needs an additional park and this section, one of the most flourishing and rapidly developing districts of Fulton or DeKalb counties, must have additional recreational facilities.

The largest swimming pool in the entire south could be located on the lake which it would take small effort to form, and an 18-hole golf course, the largest municipally-operated in this section of the country could be constructed with practically no labor.

Among those who spoke at the meeting from the Adair section were R. N. Holland, George Allan Magdon and T. M. Knight.

P. B. Hopkins and J. A. Smith declared in support of the park. The district is solidly behind the proposal.

Other speakers included Alderman-elect G. Everett Millican, of the tenth ward; R. D. Warren, member of the board of education from the tenth ward, and W. O. Hollingsworth.

Fulton county commission will be asked to join the city in making the purchase.

Southampton, England, August 1.—(P)—Observing the August 1 bank holiday, Captain Frank T. Courtney did not appear at Calshot airfield today, but Mechanician R. F. Little worked on their Dornier Whale, which is awaiting only the signal of good weather for the attempted trans-Atlantic flight.

Yesterday's slight improvement in the weather over the Atlantic continued today.

Word just received at fourth corps area headquarters here states that eight huge 60-inch army searchlights, mounted on trucks and manned by the 82d coast artillery regiment, will be held in readiness to be rushed under police protection on board of four New York ferry boats to assist the landing of Captain F. T. Courtney, British aviator, who intends to hop off from England in his trans-Atlantic flight early this month. These searchlights will be so disposed as to indicate and illuminate a landing quadrangle in New York bay, south of Governor's island.

INSURANCE SCHOOLS CONCLUDE SESSION

The Equitable Life Assurance society for the past three weeks has been holding an insurance school at the Piedmont hotel, the school being conducted by J. C. Hickey, special field instructor and formerly assistant manager of the Saint Paul, Minn., agent. The object of the school was to train agents in a scientific, practical manner so as to further extend service to the beneficiaries of life insurance contracts.

Mr. Hickey stated at the close of the sessions Friday that the Georgia agency class made the highest percentage in examinations of all the equitable agencies which had held similar classes.

At the Henry Grady hotel late last week a program was rendered by the Georgia agents and their wives, consisting of piano and violin solos, songs, readings and a male quartette. Harry T. Adams, manager of the Equitable for Georgia, presented Mr. Hickey and Mrs. Hickey with a silver center piece, the gift of the agents as a token of their appreciation and esteem.

August Arrives Pleasantly; July 'Normal' Month

August got under way in Atlanta with climatic conditions moderate enough to justify optimistic townsmen in calling their city a summer resort as the weather enters the haven of refuge.

At the same time C. F. von Herrmann, meteorologist, promised a continuation of the moderate temperature for today's forecast covering Atlanta and vicinity.

Fair weather for the greater portion of the day will accompany the temperate variations of the mercury column, with possibilities of the perfect day being marred by local thunderstorms late this afternoon. The low mark on the thermometer Monday was 74 degrees, while 87 degrees denoted the high registration. The same limits are scheduled for today, the weather man stated.

Concerning atmospheric conditions, the month of July was practically normal, local weather bureau records reveal. Establishing a mean temperature of 77.6 degrees over the 31-day period, the July thermometer readings came within 0.5 degree of hitting the normal mean temperature for the month.

At the same time the month fell just 36 of an inch behind the normal of 4.73 inches in rainfall.

No records of temperature or rainfall statistics at the weather station, are 101 degrees, July 3, 1925, and 58 degrees, July 16, 1886. During the past 50 years 15 Julys have been colder than the central month of 1927.

While the rainfall was only slightly behind the normal last month, total deficiency in precipitation for the seven months of the year has reached 9.98 inches, Mr. von Herrmann said, referring to the figure as high. Rain clouds vanished the sun on 15 days last month. The average is 33 days.

Work on University Building Suspends For Lack of Funds

Athens, Ga., August 1.—(Special.)—Work has been suspended on the commerce-journalism building on the University of Georgia campus due to the lack of funds. The building was begun several months ago and would have been completed in six more weeks had funds been available. It was begun with money on hand from the war memorial fund raised by Georgia alumni and it was hoped that subscriptions would come in fast enough to keep the work going.

About $100,000 is needed to complete the building, which was to cost $215,000 and was to house the schools of commerce and journalism.

It is stated by Professor H. H. Heckman, treasurer of the memorial fund, that about $45,000 is owed the contracting fund, C. H. Van Ormer & company and an additional $55,000 for work yet to be done.

POWER CO. PAVING REDUCTION DENIED

City council Monday killed two identical papers providing a 25 per cent reduction in street paving assessments levied by the city against the Georgia Power company after one of the hottest battles through which council has passed this year.

One of the measures was passed unanimously by council July 18, and was sent to Mayor I. N. Ragsdale for approval. Mr. Ragsdale declined to sign the paper, and sent a message pointing out that a similar paper had been approved by council and former Mayor Walter A. Sims last June and expressed an opinion that the 1927 council should not consider the same proposition until the Georgia legislature disposed of the previous one.

On motion, the most recent proposal for reduction was filed, and then the measure passed by the 1926 council was rescinded by a vote of 24 to seven.

Councilman Horace Russell, of the ninth ward, directed his fight to rescind the former action on the ground that any request for relief of the company at this time might influence the Georgia public service commission in rendering a decision regarding the proposed ten-cent car fare petition now pending with the commission. Others joined in the fight.

Under the franchise, the state legislature must authorize any revision of the contract for assessments between the city and the power company.

Council finally did pass to the charter revision committee a proposal to reduce the assessments on streets where single tracks are laid, from 11 feet to eight feet. This proposal was offered by Councilman Harry York, of the sixth ward.

Councilmen Howard C. McCutcheon and Jack G. Savage were leaders of the fight to rescind, while Alderman Robert E. Gann, Councilman John A. White, Mr. York and others opposed it.

Mr. Gann contended that the 1926 provision for the reduction was made after a lengthy investigation by a special traction committee, and that only one member of city council, Mr. Russell, voted against it.

During the debate on the proposal to rescind action of the 1926 council, Councilman York offered the motion which would have permitted a reduction of from 11 to seven feet on single track streets, and precipitated a parliamentary wrangle which all but succeeded in tabling the motion to rescind. When he offered his paper, Alderman Robert F. Pennington, of the first ward, moved it be tabled, and Mr. York seconded it.

Several other members of council did likewise. A vote to table the amendment under parliamentary law would have tabled the original motion, and when Mr. Pennington discovered his mistake, Mr. York contended he had seconded the motion and would not permit the author of the motion to table to withdraw his motion.

Alderman William B. Hartsfield, who was presiding, held that there were several seconds to the move to table, and permitted one of the other seconds to consent to its withdrawal.

The charter revision committee at its meeting will consider the petition for relief of three feet of paving assessment on streets on which single tracks are situated.

When the assessment relief petition was passed by the 1926 council it was offered by a special traction committee composed of Alderman J. L. McLendon, Councilman A. J. Orme, Councilman John A. White, Alderman W. B. Hartsfield and Dr. P. L. Moon.

The following recommendation was contained in its report of June 6, 1926:

"We recommend that the charter revision committee of this council request the Georgia legislature at its next meeting to amend the charter of the city of Atlanta so that the paving cost chargeable to the street railway system may be fixed upon a basis of 12 feet instead of 16 feet for double track lines, and eight feet instead of 12 feet for single track lines."

FIRE QUADRANTS WITH ASSISTANT CHIEFS PROPOSED

The Atlanta fire board will consider a proposal to divide the city into fire quadrants in an effort to give better fire protection, according to action of city council Monday afternoon, in adopting a measure offered by Alderman Charles M. Ford, of the tenth ward.

If provisions of the measure are placed in operation the city would be divided into four sections with an assistant chief in charge of each. In the event of a fire the assistant chief would answer the call and the chief would not be required to attend unless his services were needed to direct the forces.

The fire board probably will make a recommendation to council at its next session on the proposal.

DECATUR EXTENDS CITY TERRITORY

Decatur, Ga., August 1.—(Special.)—Extending the city limits of Decatur to include several tracts of land was the feature of an adjourned session of the Decatur city commission tonight.

The limits were extended westward to include from 400 to 500 yards of territory on Ponce de Leon avenue, taking in what is known as the de Leon Heights subdivision. A small tract on Hill street beyond the Scottish Rite Crippled Children's home was also included in the city limits.

'Wildflower' Sweet, Pretty Romance of Charming Italy

BY PAUL STEVENSON.

In a sweet little musical playlet called "Wildflower," redolent of the peaceful valleys of sunny Italy, its smiling fields and picturesque peasant life, little Claire Madjetie, prima donna of the Atlanta Municipal Opera company, came into her own at the Erlanger theater Monday night and provided an evening of rare delight.

This "Wildflower" is not a show that stirs, or brings unromantic laughter or lulls to sleep with soft melodies. It's simply a pretty little romance, with a tugging at the heart here and there and the rest fun, dancing and gaiety. It requires extra effort on the part of the audience to keep keyed up through each moment of the show and permits an evening of relaxed fun which makes the offering an altogether charming one.

As the seventh offering of the summer season "Wildflower" is not the best of the year's selections but it comes so close to this point that it certainly will give the rest a race for the runner-up spot. It is in three acts, accurately staged and with some colorful effects.

Miss Madjetie sang the role of the peasant girl Nina in love with Guido, played by Soudarth Fraser, tenor, and they assuredly provided some of the tenderest and most wholesome loving yet seen in any of the operas. Both played with such simplicity that they almost appeared as if the parts were specially written for them. Miss Madjetie never forced a moment, was just natural, sweet, sang plaintively and appealingly and just carried away all the hearts before the people knew it.

The prettiest song hit is unquestionably "Bambalina," and the way that big chorus sang and danced this number was worthy of any Broadway show. Director Soudarth Fraser, tenor, must have worked hard to perfect this number as it was given with the zest of a New York hit. Mr. Fraser's "Wildflower," with its effective pauses and glides, was another popular hit of the evening. Miss Madjetie, with the assistance of a male chorus, in excellent voices, accompanied by "You Can't Blame a Girl for Dreaming."

Perhaps the funniest comedy song of the entire season was the number in the last act by Richard Fowler, comedian, and that able and attractive young actress-singer, Miss Alice MacKenzie. The number is called "The World's Worst Women," and alone is worth going to the Erlanger to see. It's one of the funniest song skits seen here recently in any theater.

Activities of Various Kinds Add to the Social Whirl

Variety is the keynote of the calendar today, with the first days of August, which imperceptibly began to foreshadow the coming events of fall, entertainment in numerous forms are found in the whirl of gaieties. Aside from the more formal affairs at "town-house" and club, and the usual delightful Tuesday afternoon tea at the governor's mansion, which has assembled numbers of senators, members of the legislature and their friends, the less formal "spend-the-day" party, the watermelon cutting, the pageant and bridge party all have a place today.

Miss Eugenia Dordier will be hostess at a charming al fresco affair at her summer home, "Craney Crow," on the Sewell road.

For Grouchy Husbands

What an old bear he is when he comes home from work in the evening! Of course he's been working hard all day, and the trip home has probably been trying—but then, your day has been trying too, and you're cheerful and pleasant. You don't realize, perhaps, that it was that cup of RIDGWAYS TEA you stopped for at five o'clock that makes the difference between your temper and his. You don't see any excuse for his biting your head off and growling.

Well, then, tomorrow suppose you try this simple remedy for grouchy husbands that other wives have found works just like a charm. Tomorrow night when he comes home, offer him a freshly brewed cup of RIDGWAYS TEA. Give it to him just as he likes it—with sugar and cream or lemon. He'll probably say he doesn't want it at first. He'll growl just as usual. But as soon as that delicious, stimulating flavor reaches him, he'll change his mind. Two minutes later he'll be a different man. He'll feel warmed and soothed inside. His worries will somehow melt away. He'll feel revived, refreshed, comforted—even cheerful. In another minute he'll beam at you and be his own sweet self again.

Any one of the three perfect blends of RIDGWAYS TEA can do this. Their world-famous flavor and refreshing goodness have saved many a man's temper and many a woman's disposition! "The First Thing You Think of"—RIDGWAYS TEA. THREE perfect blends to meet all demands: RIDGWAYS "Her Majesty's Blend"—originally blended for the special and private use of Queen Victoria of Great Britain. RIDGWAYS "Gold Label" 100% Genuine Orange Pekoe Tea—The connoisseur's favorite—a blend of the world's finest flowery Orange Pekoe teas. RIDGWAYS "Orange Label" Tea—a fine, mild India-Ceylon tea—the most popular blend in the United States.—(adv.)

Filled with Collocotton wadding, the world's super-absorbent, Kotex is 5 times more absorbent than the ordinary cotton pad. And that means five times ordinary safety.

Also, you discard Kotex as easily as tissue. No laundry, no embarrassing disposal. Also—it deodorizes thoroughly.

Even blackheads, pimples, sallowness, roughness and "muddy" complexions vanish as if by magic—almost overnight. Your skin takes on that enchanting beauty that every one admires.

SCIENCE has made a new and amazing discovery—a discovery that brings new happiness and beauty into the lives of thousands.

Always before, the active, outdoor woman has had to suffer for her summer enjoyments. She has had to choose between the unsightly sunburn, tan and red freckles that are bound to come with swimming, motoring, golf, tennis, etc., and the clear, white skin that is her greatest charm. Many have even given up the healthful outdoor life that deprived them of skin beauty. For women realize that nothing is more unsightly than a raw, burnt nose and neck, scores of freckles and the half-tan, half-white shoulders and arms that an evening dress or party frock reveals.

Bring Out YOUR Hidden Beauty

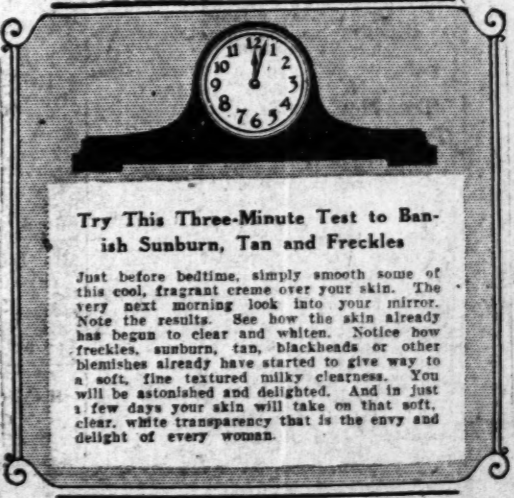

Now the sacrifice of all these Summer pleasures is unnecessary. The boiling sun and flying sand hold no terrors for the active woman of today. For science has discovered a wonderful new and easy way for you to have a beautiful milk-white skin all the time. And in clearing your complexion of sunburn, tan and freckles you will transform yourself—bring out the alluring, soft beauty that lies hidden in your skin.

Just a few 3-minute applications of this wonderful secret and skin imperfections go away as if by magic. You will be astonished at the transformation your mirror will reveal to you in these few days. The "3-Minute-Before-Bedtime-Test" shows how results are obtained even overnight.

How New Discovery Aids Nature

Nature has always meant for you to have the same clear skin as a baby. But you can not protect your skin as carefully as you would a baby's. The scorching sun, harsh winds, flying dust, and modern living conditions all leave their marks. But science has now come to the aid of Nature. This new discovery not only helps Nature to do its normal work in resisting these attacks, but also brings you back the smooth, clear skin of a baby—the kind of skin you've always longed for.

Try this wonderful new scientific discovery at once. Banish freckles, sunburn, tan, pimples and blackheads this new way. Don't let liver spots, redness, roughness, and "muddy" complexion mar your beauty. Almost overnight this new discovery takes these blemishes away—leaving you the clear, milk-white skin that is the envy and admiration of every one you meet.

Try This Three-Minute Test to Banish Sunburn, Tan and Freckles

Just before bedtime, simply smooth some of this cool, fragrant cream over your skin. The very next morning look into your mirror. Note the results. See how the skin already has begun to clear and whiten. Notice how freckles, sunburn, tan, blackheads or other blemishes already have started to give way to a soft, fine textured milky clearness. You will be astonished and delighted. And in just a few days your skin will take on that soft, clear, white transparency that is the envy and delight of every woman.

SYNOPSIS
A head of crooks, stumbling on the fact that Sir Adrian Shale's wife is alive, when supposedly she had died six months before in Italy, arrives at Grantwick. Sir Adrian's home, for the purpose of blackmailing him. Miss Winchell, one of the crooks, posing as a widow, obtains a letter of introduction to Sir Adrian, who is kind to her and her daughter, Doris. The girl is beautiful, and possesses the only shred of respectability the gang can lay claim to. She is in reality an orphan whom Miss Winchell, one of the crooks, Beauty Bill Gibbons, asks Doris to marry him. She refuses. A few days later Sir Adrian, angry by announcing he would like to marry Doris. She tells him she does not believe he is alive and demands fifty thousand pounds for silence. Sir Adrian does not believe her, but agrees to pay the money. She returns to London immediately and discovers that Sir Adrian has tricked her somewhat. Disturbed by Miss Winchell's story, Sir Adrian decides to make an investigation. His wife's former maid, Anna Ferguson, failed to come back to England after Lady Shale's death in Italy. In attempting to find her, Sir Adrian calls on her sister, Mrs. George, a fashionable London dressmaker, who is unable to give him any information. Doris rebels at the life she is forced to lead with Miss Winchell, Uncle Charlie, and takes a job as a maid at Mrs. George's. She is late in returning to Mrs. George's and is scolded by her husband for refusing to tell where she has been. She leaves her home and her employer, Miss Winchell, who is Mrs. George's daughter, makes a demand for five thousand pounds. George is given two days in which to raise the money. She is on the verge of despair when Sir Adrian calls. He tells her her sister Anna died six months ago in Italy, and he has just heard word of his wife's death. He tells George about the blackmail scheme that had been tried on him.

INSTALLMENT XXXII.

ADRIAN MAKES A DISCOVERY.

At the moment the not uncommon name of Hobson made no particular impression upon Shale. He was fretting to think that Richbury was a good hundred miles away, in the west, and of the time it would take him to reach it.

"I suppose the parson's still there," he said half to himself, half to Morgan.

"We can soon tell that," the secretary answered complacently. "The Clerical directory, you know."

"Of course—of course," Shale saw the familiar black-bound volume on a shelf, and walked across the room to consult it.

Hobson. He found the name in a few seconds and the man he was seeking near to the top of the list.

"Hobson, Allan—Hobson, Archibald," here he is," he said, then noticed with delight that the name was no longer in that western town, but vicar of a suburban parish not ten miles away. For the first time during the interview he smiled.

"That's splendid," Mr. Morgan. "Thank you very much," he said as he picked up his hat. "I'm much obliged to you and I won't bother you any more, now."

Morgan looked mollified. "Only too glad to be of assistance, Sir Adrian," he replied. "If there's anything else I can do."

"Nothing. Nothing, thanks," Shale moved to the door. He was anxious only to get away; to resume his search. He hoped that with a little luck he might yet be able to have something definite to report to George before the day was out.

Morgan followed his distinguished visitor, disconcerted by the quick, impetuous manner, but he reached the front door only in time to see Shale disappear into his car. The secretary returned to his office uncertain as to whether he would receive a commendation or reproof for his handling of the affair. He frankly disapproved of this Sir Adrian Shale and his hurricane methods.

It took over an hour to skirt London and reach that uninspiring red brick villa which proclaimed itself, in art school lettering of the wooden gate as "St. Andrew's Vicarage."

There was no drive, so Shale left his car and walked up a dank neglected path to a front door, badly in need of repainting, and rang a jangling bell.

Would Doris Ferguson open the door? He felt almost a thrill of excitement as he heard approaching footsteps, but the next moment his hope had vanished. It was an elderly, comfortable looking woman, a housekeeper clearly, who asked, "What name shall I say?" in response to his inquiry as to whether Mr. Hobson was at home.

At least Hobson was in. Shale moved as he waited, surveying the shabby scanty furniture of the hall. And the lord said that the fellow could tell him something about that little charity child who had been taken into service in his house. The next moment the Rev. Archibald Hobson himself came limping into the hall.

"Good afternoon, sir," he said in a friendly civil voice. "You will forgive me, I hope, but I am crippled with rheumatism and I have been endeavoring to bear my burden over the dining room fire this afternoon." He threw open a door. "If you will come into my study—"

Shale bowed and followed. "And now, sir," he said, "I owe the pleasure of this call to the parson went on courteously. Sir Adrian had been regarding this wizened old vicar with a queer interest. His face was reminiscent of somebody, and he couldn't think of whom. The scant curly hair was of that strange nondescript tint to which red turns as it grays. There was honor in the face, and kindness. And there were signs of suffering, too.

"I must apologize for bothering you," Shale said with a smile, "but

New York, August 1.—(AP)—A bullish view of the end-season statistics and the government report on insect activities caused sharp rallies from an early decline in the cotton market here today, the first day of the new season, but prices eased again in late trading. December contracts, after selling up to 18.35 to 18.75, broke to 18.45, and closed at 18.52, with the general market closing steady at net declines of 1 to 5 points.

The market opened at an advance of 3 to 9 points on covering and some local buying in anticipation of bullish distribution figures for the season ended with July and reports of further showers in eastern belt sections.

There was a good deal of realizing, however, and prices soon weakened under a renewal of liquidation, October declining to 18.10 and January to 18.48, or about 11 to 18 points net lower. There was recovering on the decline, and the buying became more active, following the publication of statistics placing the world's mill consumption of American cotton for the season at 17,428,000 bales against 15,112,000 last year.

A bullish view also was taken of the official boll weevil report which was receding as compared with previous reports of heavy infestation over a good part of the belt and the buying movement carried prices up to 18.55 for October and 18.84 for January, or about 20 to 25 points above Saturday's closing quotations, and approximately 40 points above the low levels of the morning. The demand tapered off at these figures, however, as the bullish features had been discounted during the afternoon under a renewal of realizing or liquidation. It looked as if some traders had carried long contracts over the reactions of late last week in anticipation of a more attractive selling basis on today's reports, and as if such holdings were coming on the market.

Prices broke back within a few points of the early low level, but on the whole the tone was steadier in the late trading and late prices were 10 to 15 points up from the low level of the morning. Exports for today and the season so far 8,005 bales, compared with 5,823 last year. Port receipts 2,884. U. S. port stocks 918,178.

GENERAL MARKET OFF AT NEW ORLEANS.

New Orleans, August 1.—(AP)—Following an advance of $2.50 a bale, the cotton market encountered heavy realizing and prices eased off 32 to 35 points in late trading. 1927 COTTON CROP IS UNPROMISING

Washington, August 1.—(United News)—America's corn crop for this year is "backward and unpromising," the department of agriculture said today in its August 1 crop report.

"The wheat belt," the report stated, "reverses the condition of last year when the southern area had an excellent crop and northern spring wheat was a near failure."

The corn crop failure appears likely to affect feeding operations of livestock, the department said, this indicates higher lamb prices for next winter. Pacific coast crop conditions are reported as good. Except for drought in Utah and Nevada similar conditions exist in the Rocky Mountain states. A large wheat crop is being harvested in the Pacific northwest.
